Shelter Reading Program Launches

Cat Welfare and Crime Cats author Wolfgang Parker are launching a new program that will foster literacy and help socialize the shelter’s residents. The Crime Cats Mystery Club (CCMC), the first such club in Central Ohio, will invite students in grades 1-8 to read books from the CCMC on-site library aloud to cats in the shelter for 15 to 30 minutes at a time. As children accrue reading time, they will be eligible for prizes.

"I'm overjoyed to have the opportunity to offer this shelter reading program to the community in partnership with my friends at Cat Welfare Association," says Parker. "The main focus of the Crime Cats Mystery Club will be to hasten the socialization process of Cat Welfare's shy cats, while helping children build confidence reading. However, it's also a unique opportunity to foster the development of empathy in readers. This, to me, is as important as literacy in human development. Doing my part to ensure the next generation is more capable of thoughtfully considering another's circumstances is one of my goals with my Crime Cats series. Having a chance to do the same in a whole other forum is a dream come true."

A parent or legal guardian must be present at all times. Cost to participate is $5.

Interested readers and their families should contact Gail Harbert, Program Coordinator, at 614-268-6096, Ext. 103, and watch for updates on CWA’s Facebook page and website, catwelfareassoc.org.
Memorial Service Planned for Mojo

Our shelter lost a very special boy in August. Mojo was dear to so many people because he had a way of letting you know YOU were his absolute most favorite human of all. There will be a service for Mojo in the memory garden at the shelter on October 25 at 6:30 p.m. All are welcome to attend.

Community Shares Donations Add Up

Community Shares of Mid Ohio allows employees of participating organizations throughout Central Ohio to donate to any of 60 nonprofit causes via a payroll deduction program. Thanks to Community Shares, members pledged just under $62,000 to Cat Welfare last year! If your employer participates in Community Shares, please remember our kitties when you are filling out your forms, and encourage your family and friends to do the same. If not, ask your campaign coordinator how you can make a gift through donor option. Tritrich-Positive Kitty Finds His Home

A staff and volunteer favorite, Squirrel, has met his match! McKenna started visiting with Squirrel and other tritrich-positive kittens when they were being held in quarantine. McKenna enjoyed the calm and quiet atmosphere of the isolation area and became quick friends with several of the cats. However, it was a boy we call Squirrel that leapt on her back and into her heart.

McKenna was able to devote nearly a day each week to coming to the shelter and visiting with the cats. She considers it her therapy. Finally, after a year of visiting, the timing was right and McKenna was able to adopt Squirrel, which she said had been her plan for months. McKenna knows that because Squirrel had the tritrich parasite there is a slight chance of a relapse and that Squirrel should be the only cat in her home. She is okay with that because when you have Squirrel to entertain and love you, you’re good. Why would you need more?
I adopted Bo back in August 2014. I was alone and sad and new to the adult world. I had a dog growing up and knew nothing about cats and, in fact, I thought they were mostly mean. One day, after being fed up with being lonely in my home, I started browsing Petfinder. I stumbled across Bo’s lonely page. He’d been at Cat Welfare for a long time, and I fell in love when I saw the small black cat with his tongue out.

For two months I prepared my budget and home for him. I visited him once before I adopted him just to make sure it was going to be a good fit. When I finally got to meet him, I really fell in love. I took him home about two weeks later.

Since then, he’s become a happy cat in my home. He went from being so shy and quiet to the most talkative and loving cat I’ve ever met. We have conversations, he makes sure to cuddle with me every night when I go to bed, and he is always by my side. I never knew cats could be this loving or even this healing!

Bo has helped me heal and has taught me love for an animal I’ve never had. With him and therapy, I’ve successfully been off medication for an illness I’ve needed meds for since 2008. He’s become my emotional support animal, and we’ll be together until the end of his days. I really love him and with the way he looks at me, I think he loves me, too.

Originally my kiddos and I went to CWA to check out another kitty, but we soon realized he wasn’t a good fit for the family. Something told me to keep looking, and I’m so glad that we did! Punkin has been a wonderful addition to our family! He is patient with the kids and even sneaks into their room to snuggle with them at night after they are already snoozing. It’s adorable! We don’t know what we’d do without him!

Devon (formerly Jeremy) has been with us since the summer of 2002. We can’t believe it’s been that long. He likes his house more than his old apartment, since there are floors to run up and down, and he even finds a mouse once in a while!

He loves to rest on laps, knowing his humans won’t move as long he lies there, happily purring. He loves playing fetch with paper candy wrappers. He drops them at our feet, looking at us expectantly, waiting for us to toss them.

David Roduner

Jack Sparrow was found abandoned and alone. Jack was taken to CWA and placed into foster care to be bottle fed by a volunteer, who happened to be my wife’s cousin. We brought Jack home, and he has fit in well with our two other cats. Jack has been a joy in our life and is very happy to have a forever home.

Cat Caper Runs at Griggs

Many thanks to all who came out to support our 11th annual Cat Caper. After a yearlong hiatus, we were excited to reinvent the fundraiser at Griggs Reservoir.

Thank you to Karen Ramey 2016 Cat Caper Chair, Kylie Shaffery for orchestrating the raffle and Lisa Johnston with her crew for making the pancake breakfast happen. Additional gratitude to the Ultra-Fit team and our talented photographers, Laura and Becca Milem.
Blind Brothers Spruce and Sparrow Need a Forever Home

Spruce and Sparrow are a bonded pair of brothers. These 6-month-old fellas have been in Cat Welfare’s charge since May when they arrived in an extreme state of medical distress. Thanks to the attention given to these kittens by Cat Welfare’s staff, a loving foster home and Knapp’s Veterinary Hospital, you would never imagine these boys had been unhealthy until you realize Sparrow does not have eyes and Spruce has very limited vision. They are rambunctious and just as able as sighted kittens when they are in a safe and familiar setting. Sparrow tends to defer to Spruce for new experiences, and Spruce will guide Sparrow when necessary. Both boys use the litterbox without fail. They get along fine with adult cats who tolerate their kitten antics, and both boys are loving with humans. Sparrow tolerates more hugs and kisses, while Spruce would rather spend his waking hours crafting clever mischief. We are placing Spruce and Sparrow only as a bonded pair.

From blindcatrescue.com/about: Blind cats do not know they are blind, they know they are cats. They act like cats. Blind cats can do pretty much everything that a seeing cat can do. They can climb trees, climb up on to the top of cabinets and get into places that you cannot figure out how they did it. Some things that will make it easier on your blind cat is to try to stay somewhat consistent on the important things, like the litter box and food bowls. For the rest of the house, live normally; they will go around things. If you watch a blind cat, you will see that they point their whiskers out so the whiskers will brush against something typically before they hit it. You CAN move your furniture. They will quickly readjust to the change.

If you are considering adding a feline duo to your home, please stop by to meet Sparrow and Spruce. We’re sure their antics and affection will bring a smile to your face.

Help us get a new projector
Cat Welfare would like to own a projector with a USB port and a screen for educational purposes. Our goal for the purchase is right around $500. All contributions are appreciated, please note projector or AV supplies when making your donation.

From January through August 2016, we adopted 923 cats into loving homes. From January through June 2016, we subsidized 729 spay and neuter surgeries through our various Altering Fund programs.
Greetings! My name is Calypso, and I am looking for a forever home. I am young, healthy and obviously, quite striking. I give wonderful head butts and my motor seems to run constantly. I am FIV+ and that’s okay. You see, FIV+ cats typically don't have needs that are much different from any other cat. I should be kept indoors, offered a good, healthy diet and have as little stress as possible. I don't even have to be your only cat. Transmission of FIV doesn't happen during friendly contact between cats, including nose-to-nose contact, mutual grooming, or sharing toys, food, water and litter. As long as everyone gets along and new cats are introduced slowly, FIV- and FIV+ cats can live healthy, happy lives in the same household. So please come on by the shelter, and let's get to know one another. I bet you'll fall in love.

Cat Welfare has nearly 300 cats available for adoption. Find your new feline friend by visiting catwelfareassoc.org or stopping by our shelter. The kitties would be happy to see you!
